

A stylized illustration of a cell. The cell is roughly circular with a thick black outer boundary. Inside, there is a large, irregularly shaped blue nucleus. Within the nucleus is a smaller, yellow, elongated structure representing the nucleolus. The blue nucleus is filled with small black dots. Radiating from the outer black boundary are numerous short, black, hair-like lines, suggesting cilia or microvilli. The background is white.

I recently learn these dudes can be picky about such things. The band has been sawing up in cogito in unexpected places.

The writing work continues in an explosion of creativity. The spiritual sequel to our Ep "Sinking Into The Strange" with titles such as Atmosphere 147, Synchronous Gears, J-Fru Bad, Zen Yatta, Helvetica and many more.

You've decided the days before you're painting for posterity. Let me know fall after. Symphonies and see what comes out like a river your thoughts let the waves fall.
